

The sun comes up just about as often as it goes down, in the long run, but this doesn't make its motion random.[1]

References

- [1] Donald E. Knuth. Seminumerical Algorithms, chapter 3.3.2. Addison-Wesley, 1979.